I'm Bruce Pratte, the electrical technology instructor at UniTec Career Center.

I started my electrical career when I took electrical technology at Lead Belt Area

Vo Tech from 1975-1977. After graduation I moved to Houston Texas and began my career industrial electrical work at powerhouses, refineries, and chemical plants. After traveling around the United States for 20 years, I settled down in my hometown of Bonne Terre, where my wife and daughter and I make our home. I began teaching the class I once took as a high school student in 2004. I enjoy watching my students gain confidence and self-esteem as they gain knowledge and decide on a career path. I am honored to have saw 5 students represent and win the State Championship for UniTec's electrical technology program.
